

There once was a brave Captain who lived on Java island and traveled all across the Great Programming Languages Sea

He have heard tales of a marvelous Kotlin island and even obtained the travel map